- $50 non-refundable entrance fee (by check or payable online at <http://www.georgiaphilharmonic.org/youngartists.html>)

THE GEORGIA PHILHARMONIC

COMPETITION PROCESS: All recordings will be evaluated by a panel of impartial judges. Twelve contestants (four per category) will be selected to advance to the semifinals, consisting of a 15 to 20 minute live audition before a jury of distinguished judges in mid-November. Of these, one first-place winner will be selected in each age group. In addition, a minimum of three overall competition laureates will be selected to be featured in concert with the Georgia Philharmonic on Saturday, February 16, 2019. Contestant must be available on this date in order to enter the competition.

When possible, these laureates will be the winners of each age category. However, if a suitable contestant is not available in every category, the jury reserves the option to select multiple laureates from the same category.

Semifinalists will perform a solo audition with piano accompaniment on Sunday, November 18, 2018 (date subject to change with notice to applicants). Contestants must provide their own accompanist; a piano will be available for accompanist use. Semi-final audition repertoire must be suitable for performance with full orchestra. For Apprentice contestants, this should be one 7-12 minute movement of a standard concerto or concert piece. For Artisan and Virtuoso contestants, this should be a 12-40 minute standard concerto or concert piece (single movement or in its entirety; full work preferred at Virtuoso level). All pieces must have full orchestration available.

QUESTIONS:

Questions about the competition should be directed to gpyacc@georgiaphilharmonic.org.
